SACRIFICIAL GIVING

When Jesus asked the Samaritan woman for a drink of water, He opened the door for a life-changing relationship with Him. Scripture says her testimony drew many others to Him as well. We, too, must be ready to respond whenever and wherever the Lord speaks to us and be prepared for it to change our lives!

CHOOSE LIFE – PREGNANCY HOT LINE (909) 985-0205

Protection of innocent human life is not an imposition of personal conviction but a demand of justice. “Each human being is known by God and loved by him. Each is willed by God, and each is God’s image... whoever violates a human being violates God’s property” - Pope Benedict XVI

3rd SUNDAY OF LENT
March 7, 2010

More thoughts of Lenten ASHES

I have often thought that there is no more meaningful sacrament in the Church, than the placing of ashes on our foreheads at the beginning of Lent. In such a graphic way it calls to mind the fact of all facts, that our time on earth is limited, burning away, indications that we know not the day or the hour when the Master will call—that the dying embers of our lives will extinguish.

It is so easy to imagine someone else dying, but it is most difficult to envision ourselves at death’s door. Twice I have been anointed. Twice in my fifty years of living I have been mercifully pulled back at the last moment, and given another chance at a new beginning. Coming so very close to death—wondering if I would live through the night—brought home to me the precious moment of time, the sanctity of each moment, the ardent desire to live my priestly commitment to the full.

When I suddenly came face to face with death, all those things that seemed to very important, just a day ago, or even a few hours earlier, faded quickly from view. As it were, I stood naked before my God. All pretense, all shame, all game playing with myself and with others fell before my eyes.

At that gravely serious moment in time, I prayed earnestly for another chance to render myself more pleasing to My Creator. If given a reprieve, I resolved to make every effort to heed the words of St. Paul, when he pledged to spend himself and be spent in loving service of His Master. I needed the extra time so that the words our Lord addressed to Mary Magdalen could someday be comfort to me: “Many sins are forgiven you because you have loved much.”

Not even God can change the past.
The future is not mine to boast of.

NOW is the precious time to rise from mediocrity of spirit—to greatness of spirit!

Years later, I pray to God for the courage, the insight, the vision to strive daily to be more sharing, more giving, a more loving priest, no matter what might be the personal cost of discipleship.

The burned ashes on my forehead brought this to mind—to pen.
--Fr. A. Paraclete
