SACRIFICIAL GIVING The Good Samaritan was also a good steward, giving his time and his treasure to meet his neighbor’s need. At the end of this familiar story, Jesus urges his hearers—and us—to go and do the same!

CHOOSE LIFE – Pregnancy Hot Line (909) 985-0205

Commenting on the shocking discoveries at a Philadelphia abortion mill, Rich Lowry of National Review Online observed, “Legal abortion was supposed to end ‘back-alley abortions’, both their dangers and their entanglements with shady characters. But the practice and the mores of the back alley are with us still, tolerated by people for whom the ready provisions of abortion trumps all else.” (NRL Online, 2/4/11)

Divine Covenant of MARRIAGE

Many do not today take these words to heart as they embrace the vocation of Marriage. They do not view it as a spiritual journey that will either end in heaven or hell.

Still: Husband and wife, by the covenant of marriage, are no longer two, but one flesh. By their intimate union of persons and of actions, they give mutual help and service to each other, experience the meaning of their unity, and gain an ever deeper understanding of it day by day.

This intimate union in the mutual self-giving of two persons, as well as the good of the children, demand full fidelity from both, and an indissoluble unity between them.

Christ the Lord has abundantly blessed this richly complex love, which spring from the divine source of love and is founded on the model of His union with the Church.

In earlier times God met His people in a covenant of Love and fidelity. So now the Savior of Mankind, the Bridegroom of the Church, meets Christian husband and wives in the Sacrament of Matrimony. Further, He remains with them in order that, as He loved the Church and gave Himself for her, so husband and wife may, in mutual self-giving, love each other with perpetual fidelity.

TRUE MARRIED LOVE is caught up into God’s love; it is guided and enriched by the redeeming power of Christ and the saving action of the church, in order that the parents may be effectively led to God and receive help and strength in the sublime responsibility of parenthood.

Christian partners are therefore strengthened, and as it were consecrated, by a special sacrament for duties and the dignity of their state, by the power of this sacrament they fulfill their obligations to each other and to their family and are filled with the spirit of Christ. This spirit pervades their whole lives with faith, hope and love. Thus, they promote their own perfection and each other’s sanctification, and so contribute together to the greater glory of God.

Hence, with parents leading the way by example and family prayer, their children—indeed, all with in the family circle—will find it easier to make progress in natural virtues, in salvation and in holiness. Husband and wife, raised to the dignity and responsibility of parenthood, will be zealous in fulfilling their task as educators, especially in the sphere of religious education, a task that is primarily their own.

Children, as active members of the family, contribute in their own way to the holiness of their parents. With the love of grateful hearts, with loving respect and trust, they will return the generosity of their parents and will stand by them as true sons and daughters when they meet with hardships and the loneliness of old age...
